DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed 3-26-04 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows:

The amendment to the specification on page 6, lines 15 and 16 and on page 3, line 10 is new matter. The Prior Patent or the present application do not disclose the use of "soft plastics" and is therefore new matter. The term "soft plastics" can include other materials than silicone or latex rubber which were previously disclosed and would be new matter. Also, deleting the claimed ranges is considered new matter since applicant is further limiting the claimed ranges.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the amendment of page 2, line 3 is not clear since it appeared to be correct as originally stated. On page 8, line 11 it appears that "of" should read - - or - - .

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 3765

Claims 2 and 3 (applicants amendment claims 1 and 2 now re-numbered) are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The new claims 1 and 2 which have now been consecutively re-numbered as 2 and 3 now contain new matter. The claims have been re-numbered since original claim 1 was canceled. Any newly added claims must begin with the next consecutive number. Therefore, new claim 2 (1 of the Amendment) now contains new matter in line 8 in the form of the recitation "soft plastic material" as discussed above. In line 10 the recitation "greater than .5mm to 2mm" is also new matter since that range of "greater than .5mm – 2mm" was not previously disclosed in the specification in that greater than .5mm-2mm does not include .5mm and includes a range greater than 2mm. This was not previously described or claimed and is new matter since applicant is now changing the range from what was originally disclosed in the present specification. Also in lines 13-16, claiming "elastic materials" in general for comfort as disclosed in the specification is fine. However, further limiting the "elastic material" such as "to be under sufficient tension on said wearer...etc." has not been previously described in the specification or claimed. Additionally the specification is insufficient to support such a claim and the proper antecedent basis is not present. In the present amendment to claim 2, now re-numbered as claim 3, the same new matter exists. In line 7, the "plastic material" is new matter as discussed above. The range in line 10 is the same as applicant's original patent. Lines 14-16 in regard to the elastic material is also new matter as discussed above. No new matter can be added to the application. If new matter is necessary such new matter must be added in a "Continuation-In-Part" application. However, such modifications may be considered to be an obvious modification for one of ordinary skill in the art.

It is noted that since the amendments to claims 2 and 3 (as re-numbered) include new matter the prior art rejection as stated on page 3 of the prior office action still applies when omitting the new matter stated above.

Constructive assistance as requested cannot be given due to the major deficiencies discussed above.
